

Exhibitors

The California Small Farm Conference attracts between 400 and 500 participants each year. These participants are primarily small farmers, and also includes farmers' market managers, university researchers, staff of federal and state agriculture agencies, agriculture students, food policy advocates, consumers and others. The 2009 California Small Farm Conference will offer a limited amount of exhibit space. As an exhibitor you will have access to this desirable audience of small farmers from around the state of California, as well as others who work in the state's agriculture industry. Your participation as an exhibitor also demonstrates your commitment to supporting and sustaining small farms in California. We invite you to sign-up today as an exhibitor at the Small Farm Conference. Rates for Exhibitors:

- University, Nonprofit Organizations and Government Agencies:

$200 for standard booth space

$250 for standard booth space with electricity

- Businesses and For-Profit Enterprises:

$300 for standard booth space

$350 for standard booth space with electricity Standard booth space includes table, table covering, signage and two chairs. You can download an Exhibitor Registration Form in PDF format here. For more information about the opportunities to be an exhibitor, or to request an Exhibitor Registration Form by mail or fax, contact us.